

Thinking Minds Corporate Website Privacy Policy

Thinking-Minds® is committed to safeguarding your privacy online. Please read the following policy to understand how your personal information will be treated as you make full use of our services. Thinking-Minds® has created this privacy statement in order to demonstrate our firm commitment to privacy and security. The following discloses our information gathering and dissemination practices for our website.

Thinking-Minds® does not collect personally identifiable information about businesses except when such businesses specifically provide such information on a voluntary basis. For example, such information may be gathered from a contact form or application. This information will not be sold or otherwise transferred to unaffiliated third parties without the approval of the user at the time of collection. At such points of collection, the user will have the opportunity to indicate whether he or she would like to "opt out" of receiving promotional and/or marketing information about other products, services and offerings from Thinking-Minds® and/or any third parties. Further, notwithstanding any opt out of promotional information by the user, Thinking-Minds® reserves the right to contact a subscriber regarding account status, changes to the subscriber agreement and other matters relevant to the underlying service and/or the information collected.

Website visitors also should be aware that non-personal information and data may be automatically collected through the standard operation of Thinking-Minds®'s internet servers or through the use of "cookies." "Cookies" are small text files a web site can use to recognize repeat users, facilitate the user's ongoing access to and use of the site and allow a site to track usage behavior and compile aggregate data that will allow content improvements and targeted advertising. Cookies are not programs that come onto a user's system and damage files. Generally, cookies work by assigning a unique number to the user that has no meaning outside the assigning site. If a user does not want information collected through the use of cookies, there is a simple procedure in most browsers that allows the user to deny or accept the cookie feature; however, users should note that cookies may be necessary to provide the user with certain features (e.g., customized delivery of information) available on the Thinking-Minds® site. Currently, Thinking-Minds® is not using cookies but we do reserve the right to use them in the future.

The foregoing policies are effective as of January 1, 2004. Thinking-Minds® reserves the right to change this policy at any time by notifying website visitors of the existence of a new privacy statement. This statement and the policies outlined herein are not intended to and do not create any contractual or other legal rights in or on behalf of any party.

This site contains links to our partner's sites. Thinking-Minds® is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such Web sites.

Security

This site has security measures in place to protect the loss, misuse and alteration of the information under our control.

Contacting the Web Site

If you have any questions about this privacy statement, the practices of this site, or your dealings with this Web site, you can contact:

contact@thinking-minds.com

3225 South McLeod Dr. Suite 100
Las Vegas, NV 89121
Phone: (401) 608 6470
Fax: (401) 608 6593